

LET'S MAKE A DIFFERENCE, TOGETHER

According to a recent study, up to 70% of opioids prescribed for post-surgical use were leftover and unused.¹

A University of Michigan Study published in JAMA Surgery proves that surgery patients with leftover opioids are nearly 4 times more likely to properly dispose of those drugs when given a Deterra® Drug Deactivation and Disposal System.² This helps keep unused painkillers from getting into the wrong hands. Plus the pouch itself is safe for the environment.

Not only is offering these pouches to your customers a differentiator, it also cements your position on the opioid crisis within your community. Although the statistics are staggering, this crisis does not have to be insurmountable. Change can start with you.

Do your part to educate your customers about the benefits of proper drug disposal by handing out Deterra and the Deterra Bilingual Consumer Trifold with every controlled substance while also making it available for purchase at your POS.
